

Values I bring to this company are time management. My peers would always tell me how I am on time every time I go to a meeting or work. Either I come in on time or I come in 20 minutes early. Bringing time management in the workplace is meaning that I am in knowledge of what time to be there by and where to be by. I also bring punctuality on the clock. Once again, I come in early in case of anything they need help on or to save time. Another value I would bring into the space is customer satisfaction/care. I am good with communicating with my peers and people. I usually take the time to also make sure someone is good with what they have.
